AN INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION

AMEE2017 Helsinki Finland

26-30 August 2017

The Power to Surprise!

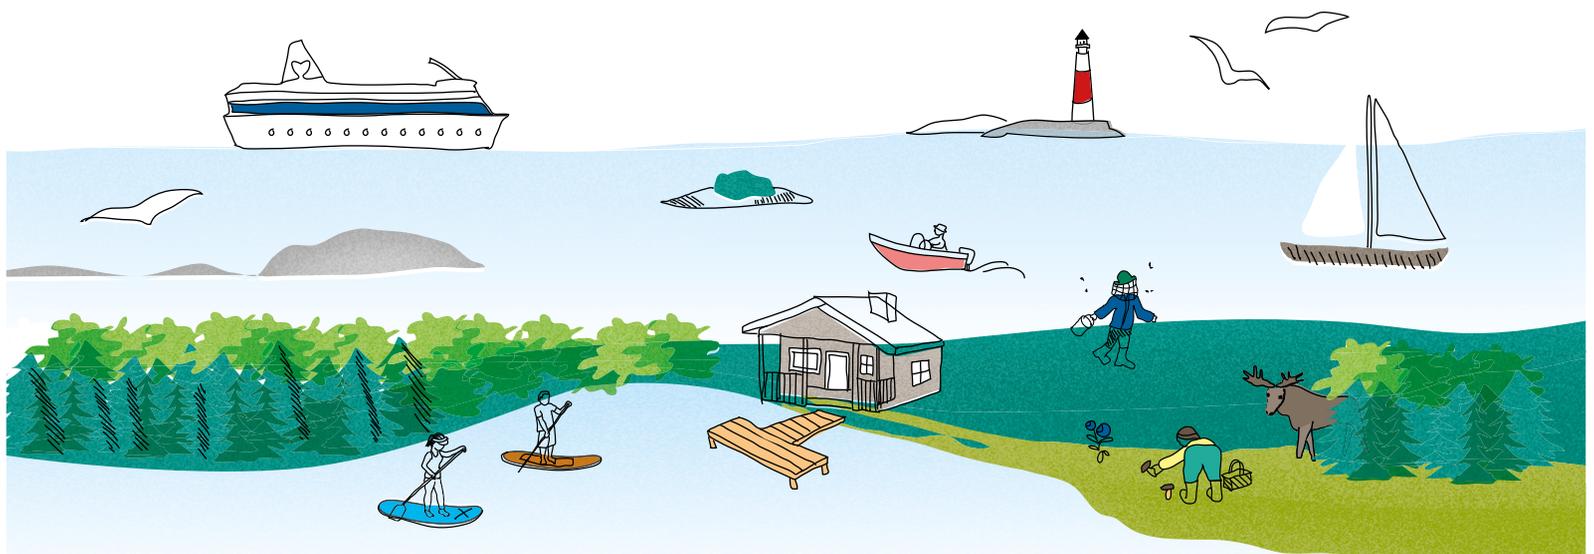

Participate in AMEE 2017 in Helsinki and

- Critically review current and future trends in curriculum planning, teaching and learning, assessment and education management
- Examine developments in undergraduate, postgraduate and continuing medical education
- Explore a fundamentally new approach to medicine and the training of doctors
- Share your experience and present your work as a short communication, poster, workshop or in one of the other novel presentation formats
- Network with others with similar interests

Plenary speakers include:

Robert Sells, an orchestra conductor and surgeon;
Peter Wardell, a magician;
Wolfgang Gaissmaier, Professor of Psychology; Pasi Sahlberg, an authority on excellence in education

A PechaKucha™ session will address gender issues, learning analytics, interprofessional education, 3D printing as an education tool, the dangerous pursuit of independence, and tensions between global trends and local challenges in medical education.

Topics covered in symposium sessions will include:

What keeps you awake at nights – dealing with difficult problems

Do we really need cadavers any more to learn anatomy?

What happens when you recognise excellence in medical education?

Submissions for symposia and preconference workshops are invited by 30 September. The provisional programme, call for abstracts and details of how you can register for this important event will be released in November.

You can't afford to miss AMEE 2017 if you are:

- working in undergraduate, postgraduate or continuing education in medicine, nursing, dentistry, veterinary medicine or another health related field
- a teacher, a practitioner, a dean or curriculum leader, a researcher, an administrator or student.

The education event of 2017 - one you should not miss!
